

PRESS RELEASE

Drew John Barnes
Director and Photographer

Scottish director and photographer Drew John Barnes embodies the true spirit of working hard to achieve great things; nothing is gained if you don't aspire for more and that's just what Drew has always done - he dreams big.

Drew's story begins back in his college days, in Paisley, where he studied photography. His taste for directing came from occasionally filming local artists and this tiny interest grew into a major passion as Drew taught himself how to direct.

Drew's reputation grew and his talent for photography turned into a career in directing, working with major brands and large production companies that have worked on a Guy Ritchie advert starring David Beckham to commercials for Chanel and Omega watches.

Music-wise, Drew has worked with international stars like Fatmanscoop, Ty Dollar $ign, Enter Shikari, Texas and many more with his working airing on many music TV channels regularly including MTV, Kerrang! and Scuzz.

Drew's latest project is '5 Questions' - conversations with various artists speaking about inspiring subjects, revealing a more intimate side. MOBO award winner Kobi Onyame is amongst the artists interviewed for the project and '5 Questions' proves that if Drew is anything, he's certainly not a one trick pony.

Drew John Barnes is available for interviews.
