Homework release their second single It's All Over taken from their forthcoming debut album 13 Towers on 4th March 2013 via Home From Home Records.

Following on from 'The Edge of Control Was Black', Homework continue to prove their credentials as one of the best electronic acts emerging from a burgeoning scene in Scotland.

It's All Over illustrates the bands versatility and ability to produce upbeat, pop-inspired dance tunes akin to Hot Chip and LCD Soundsystem, as well as the experimental, challenging moments that can be found throughout the album.

Homework, who will release 13 Towers on 25 March 2013, recorded their debut over just a handful of weekends in a former lighthouse. The band set about working on the album with a fresh approach and one simple goal: to capture the raw energy of all four band members playing together. The result is their most ambitious work to date.

Having formed in the Scottish capital in 2009, Homework attracted immediate attention from the nation's new music tastemakers, picking up airplay from BBC Radio One and BBC 6Music as well as being selected to play the renowned T Break stage at T in the Park festival after only a handful of live shows.

Since then, the band has performed at some of the UK's biggest festivals including Rockness, Belladrum, Wickerman and T in the Park, supported the likes of Suuns, Wave Machines, The D.O.T (featuring Mike Skinner of The Streets) and Cashier Number 9 as well as showcasing at industry events including GoNorth, Glimps (Belgium) and Wide Days. Their recorded output and live shows have been consistently praised by radio (Lauren Laverne, Vic Galloway, Tom Robinson and Ally McCrae) bloggers, journalists and audiences alike.

Homework are: O. Kass (vocals, synths), R. Baird (vocals, guitar, synths), R. Kass (drums) and A. Dennis (bass). They hail from the exotic Scottish outposts of Inverness, Mull and Dumfries.

The album 13 Towers will be released on 25th March 2013 followed by a host of live dates throughout the UK in April and May.
