"If there is any justice in the world this band will at least become a cult favourite in years to come." – 'Best New Bands', Spoonfed

You're Smiling Now But We'll All Turn Into Demons, or let's say "Demons" for short, are an alt-rock, psyche-drone four-piece from Portsmouth. The Demons are hard working boys indeed, constantly playing shows up and down the country, bringing their psyche noise to the masses and converting all who bare witness to their impressive live performances.

With three albums already under their belts (one of which was produced by Blood Red Shoes' Steve Ansell), the boys release their next offering, Contact High Wit Da Demons on Function Records this September. Be prepared to fall in love with your new favourite band – You're Smiling Now But We'll All Turn Into Demons.

It may be a bit of a mouthful but a name you won't forget soon after hearing this incredible album.
